

PRIVACY STATEMENT FOR EMPLOYEES OF AIR LIQUIDE HEALTHCARE IRELAND LTD

Respect for privacy and use of personal data

The privacy and the security of your information is very important to us. Air Liquide's policy is to respect and protect the privacy of our service users and employees. We will not voluntarily disclose individually identifiable information about our employees to any third party without first receiving the employee's permission to do so, unless there is a lawful or contractual requirement. We will never forward your personal data on to third parties for direct marketing purposes.

Why we hold and process your data

Air Liquide requires your personal data in order to enrol you on our system as an employee, in accordance with the Republic of Ireland and UK law. We only request, store and process the minimum amount of personal information which is necessary for carrying out the terms and conditions referenced in the Air Liquide contract of employment for payment of salary, employment performance monitoring, health and wellbeing monitoring, management of disputes and anything else which you may have provided your consent for. This may include for example name, address, next of kin, medical records, previous employment history, bank details, some sensitive data such as ethnic origin (voluntary) and any other labour related information. Please note that this list is not exhaustive.

Failing to provide the necessary data that is required for the fulfilment of your employment contract may result in your contract of employment being terminated by Air Liquide. This includes information relating to payment of your salary.

Procedure for collecting your personal data

Employee personal data may be collected in a variety of different ways including:

- Directly from you (whether in writing or verbally)
- From company conversations and correspondence such as PDRs, Managers, Training courses
- Third Parties specific for the purpose of employment administration for example previous employers, Revenue, Garda Vetting Checks.

Your personal data is held securely with restricted access to only the personnel responsible for carrying out daily tasks relating to Human Resources; this will include your Line Manager. Statutory retention periods apply in all instances. Further information relating to retention periods can be obtained from the company's Data Protection Officer.

It is important that your personal data is kept up to date

Air Liquide will take all reasonable steps to ensure your personal data is complete, accurate and kept up to date. However, it is also your responsibility to update the company with immediate effect should any of your personal information/data change. The consequence of not providing up to date information could result in error and inaccuracies which could be detrimental to both the employee and Air Liquide.

Sharing of your personal data

As mentioned above we will not voluntarily disclose your personal data to any third party without first receiving your consent unless there is a lawful or contractual requirement to do so.

Due to the nature of employee data processing we will share your personal information in order to deliver our company contractual obligations to:

- Nominated external payroll provider
