

PRIVACY STATEMENT:

FOR JOB APPLICANTS OF AIR LIQUIDE HEALTHCARE IRELAND LTD

Respect for privacy and use of personal data

The privacy and the security of your information is very important to us. Air Liquide’s policy is to respect and protect the privacy of our job applicants. We will not voluntarily disclose personal data about our applicants to any third party without first receiving the applicant’s permission to do so, unless there is a legal basis.

Why we hold and process your data

Air Liquide requires your personal data in order to facilitate the selection process and to assess your application for employment. This may include; verifying the information you have provided, conducting reference checks and communicating with you regarding your application. In the event of your application resulting in an offer of employment and your subsequent acceptance of the position offered, the data collected will become part of your employment record and will be used for employment purposes.

Air Liquide will only request, store and process the minimum amount of personal information which is necessary for carrying out the above. This may include for example name, address, personal contact details and previous employment history. Please note that this list is not exhaustive.

Failing to provide the necessary data that is required for the recruitment process, may result in your application being terminated by Air Liquide.

Procedure for collecting your personal data

Applicant personal data may be collected in a variety of different ways including:

- Directly from you (whether in writing or verbally)
- From company conversations and correspondence during the recruitment process
- Third Parties specific for the purpose of recruitment administration for example previous employers and recruitment agency (where applicable).

Your personal data is held securely with restricted access to only the personnel responsible for carrying out daily tasks relating to the Human Resource recruitment process and associated third parties; this may also include the relevant Line Manager. Statutory/Air Liquide retention periods apply in all instances. Further information relating to retention periods can be obtained from the company’s Data Protection Officer.

It is important that your personal data is kept up to date

Air Liquide will take all reasonable steps to ensure your personal data is complete, accurate and kept for no longer than necessary following the conclusion of the recruitment process. However, it is also your responsibility (during the recruitment process) to update Air Liquide with immediate effect should any of your personal data change. The consequence of not providing up to date information could result in error and inaccuracies which could be detrimental to both your application and Air Liquide.

Sharing of your personal data

As mentioned above we will not voluntarily disclose your personal data to any third party without first receiving your consent unless there is a lawful requirement to do so.

Due to the nature of applicant data processing, we will share your personal information for the purposes of verifying and assessing your application. This includes:

- Previous employers (for checking and obtaining references)
- Recruitment Agencies (where applicable)
- Garda Vetting checks for patient facing roles such as technicians and nurses for Ireland applicants.
- Data and Barring Service (DBS) check provider (where applicable) for Northern Ireland applicants.

Your Data Subject Access rights

Right of Access

Under the General Data Protection Regulation as a service user, have the right to know how your data is being processed and also the right to access your personal data.

Air Liquide will normally provide the necessary information within 30 calendar days. However, this period may be extended by up to an additional 60 calendar days if your request is particularly complex, or if it is deemed manifestly unfounded or excessive. In such cases, a small administrative fee may also be charged. In addition, a small administrative fee, at the discretion of the Data Protection Officer, may be charged if you require more than one copy of the information.

Other rights under GDPR

You may also have other rights (where applicable), for example the right to have any incorrect or incomplete data corrected, the right to object to processing, the right to restrict processing activities and the right to erasure of your personal data. However, it should be noted that your right is not absolute and will only apply in certain circumstances. If you wish to lodge a complaint regarding how your data is stored or processed please contact the company's Data Protection Officer (details below).

For further information on all your data subject rights, including how to lodge a complaint, please refer to the

- For Ireland Data Protection Commission website www.dataprotection.ie/en/dpc-guidance
- For Northern Ireland : Information Commissioner's Officer (ICO) website <https://ico.org.uk/>

Where you have given consent for Air Liquide to share your data with a third party or for us to process your data in a certain way, you have the right to withdraw this consent at any time.

All employee requests relating to your rights under the GDPR should be directed to Air Liquide's Data Protection Officer.
